FOREWORD

Because of the critical conditions created by the war, THE BUZZER is being presented to you after a long and hard struggle. Even though we knew the difficulties that would arise, we were determined to send this volume which we shall prize more dearly as time goes on. With this burning desire and the encouragement of a few, we have produced this book, which will go out to many and show them what can be done if one only believes in this quotation:

*"If at first you don't succeed,
Try, try again."*

DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of 1943, wish to dedicate our edition of THE BUZZER to:

*Two, who have urged us on to the top,
Leading us on, and not letting us stop;
Through their faithfulness and endurance,
We have received guidance and assurance.*

*We'll go out into the world with a certain feeling,
That somehow we've got to touch the ceiling.
We hope you'll feel as proud of us someday, too,
As we do sincerely feel about you.*

A DREAM COME TRUE

Yes, Seniors, one dream has come true,
The one that for years we've been dreaming;
That diploma, those ribbons of blue
From that long white roll now are streaming.

But it's not the end, we're beginning
A greater life than we've known;
Our tasks demand more for the winning.
We must prove to all we are grown.

Our first great goal, graduation,
Has been reached, but we've but begun.
To strive with determination
For thus other goals may be won.

To teachers and classmates and friends,
Let us say with accent anew
That your influence on us never ends
For your sound advice we thank you.

So now let's take time for thinking.
Let's make one resolution or two,
Let's make up for the time we've been wasting
Let's wake up so our dreams can come true.

A Message To Our Seniors:

Be assured, Class of 1943, that the good wishes of the school will follow you always. These momentous times will demand from you added vigor. May you always be true to your ideals, preferring the better way of life and being willing to make the sacrifices necessary to attain it.

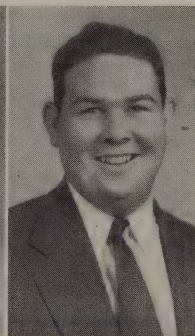

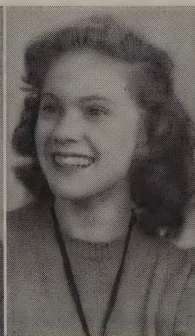

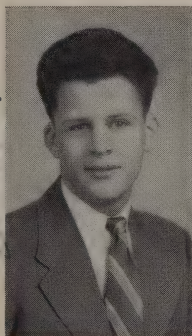

We trust your ability, your integrity, and your good judgment. We believe that you will reflect credit upon the institution which has shared in your development. "Go forth to conquer" is our last commanding advice—and the glory of victory shall make us mutually proud.

HISTORY OF SENIOR CLASS

RAMBLING REFLECTIONS

"FRESHMAN" was a magic word to us, but it lost some of its enchantment when we were re-christened mere "rats." Skill was developed in chalk-throwing and desk shoving, and we soon acquired the reputation of being the "noisiest freshmen ever." Great was the novelty of changing classes, although Miss White's History class would often find themselves in Miss Parker's English. But we lived and learned! And thus passed our first year in the institution of higher learning—Brookville.

"SOPHOMORE"—Although our dignity was greatly increased, it soon declined when we learned from Miss Wilson that we probably were descended from APES!!! Lipstick became standard equipment in most of the girls' school supplies. We found what it did mean in order to pass Mr. Hicks' Algebra. What were a few blisters and bruises to the fun we had at the Sophomore skating party? What an honor we considered it to study and fret over Latin, with two awfully nice Student teachers, when we were rewarded for it with a chance to show our hard earned knowledge by singing Christmas Carols in Latin for the whole High School.

"JUNIOR"—Still another rung higher on the Ladder of Learning. Girls viewed the world with one eye, while the boys sighed romantically at Veronica Lake's pictures. The Junior Play was indeed a success, with spooks and mystery galore. Bowling became a favorite pastime, although it resulted in numerous stiff joints. The social affair of the year was the Junior-Senior Banquet. The rain dampened our new dresses but not our spirits and a rare time we had. A Monogram Club was organized and five surprised and proud Juniors were tapped at the first meeting. We looked forward eagerly to being Seniors—high and mighty.

"SENIORS" At Last! Our attempts to be dignified were a total failure; but, at any rate, we had a few privileges. However, we realized that we were war-time Seniors. Moans and groans were heard from the victims of the new Physical Education Program, which was intended to toughen our American Youth. The crowd around Mr. Copenhaver's door was not for misbehaving, but was eagerly awaiting the arrival of the rings. Because of the world conflict our country called Clyde Doss to the colors before school was out, and Miss Gunter is leaving for the WAAC's after graduation. Thus passed our senior year. After all, "They can who think they can."

HISTORY OF JUNIOR CLASS

1940

Freshmen! Changing classes.

Oh! Such grown-up lads and lasses.

"Be your age," the teachers did say

"Remember you're in high school today."

Invitation? Skating party!

From the sophomores, hale and hearty,

Fifty strong, but so happy and gay

The party we'll remember many a day.

1941

Sophomores! Giggling gaily.

Ignoring Juniors and Seniors happily.

We were so proud of ourselves

Seventy-two strong Sophomore elves.

Something new this year? You bet,

The Bee Club, we'll never forget.

A teacher leaving? Who can it be?

Yes, the army claimed Mr. V. B. Cauley.

1942

Juniors! Can it be?

These workers for democracy!

To keep ourselves fit for our nation

We're now taking physical education.

Today we fight to solve the mystery

Of Latin, geometry, and history.

"Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose," the Junior play,

Was quite a success the critics did say.

1943

Our number grows smaller from day to day,

As we leave for army, navy, or factory.

But come what may, loyal we'll stand,

To our high school and OUR NATIVE LAND.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASS

Something new has been added—Physical Education classes. We find our girls make unusually good looking boys. Let us glance around the grounds and find the girls in their "dress uniforms."

Now we see Mrs. Macon. Let's pause a while and see if she is a good instructor. "Attention! Let's count off by fours. Mildred, take that coat off; you can't perform the exercise properly like that."

Who is that over there? Coöperation is the point. Miss Gunter, you almost have it there, but not until you get Mary Wilson's attention centered in your group instead of Mr. Holberton's.

"Mamie, fall out and jump with your feet apart and clap your hands over your head, ten times." This comes from Miss Wolfe.

Then we have dancing. We all like that because all the Victrola knows how to play is "Turkey in the Straw." Miss Parker, while you are teaching your girls to dance, you should teach them not to impose on good nature.

Hiking, sports, dancing, calisthenics, achievement, health, and even military drill, all have helped to make the girls' eyes brighter, cheeks rosier and steps lighter; in addition to fulfilling Uncle Sam's request for building up civilian defense.

Best of luck to girl. Helen

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASS

Brookville boys are mobilized into four divisions for Uncle Sam's class in Physical Education, to develop the manpower of the country. The faculty manpower consisted of a few men, so Miss White was drafted for one division.

"Class—fall in!" was the order given. "What do we fall into?" asked John Bowman. After an explanation the next command was given. "Attention!" "What are we going to attend?" asked another. "Right-dress!" "Do we have to put a dress to our right?" "Class Marking Time—Mark!" "How can we mark time without a clock?"

Soon the boys were moaning and groaning as they walked sorely to their other classes.

Today we shall practice the hanging "Half Lever." "Not on your tin type! I'm not ready to be hanged." After luring through a hanging Half Lever; the Back Twist was next in line. How does Uncle Sam think we can twist those stone backs?

What next? Football—Remember the all-star game in the mud? "Clyde, your pants are already torn off!"

Hikes—Who could ever forget the hike to the airport; seven long miles.

Now baseballs are in the air, our health is good, but the track is calling, "On your mark—Get Set—Go!" and we are off, Uncle Sam, answering your call!
